SUBJECT: Invitation to nominate police officers for service in MINUSTAH

Total number of transmitted pages including this page: 16

1. The Police Division presents its compliments to the Permanent Mission to the United Nations and wishes to express its gratitude for the Permanent Mission's dedicated, collaborative and sustained support in providing police officers for service in UN peace operations.
2. The Police Division has the honour to invite for nomination of individual police officers in active service for deployment on secondment to the United Nations Stabilization Mission in Haiti (MINUSTAH), for a period of up to one year. Any further extension can be granted on an exceptional basis provided there is a mission mandate requirement and the incumbent displays good performance, dedication, professionalism and the achieved results. The final decision on the extension is subject to approval by the United Nations and concurrence by the national authorities.
3. This invitation seeks more nominations to increase the current strength in MINUSTAH, in line with the operational requirements. In this regard, the Police Division welcomes the nomination –when feasible– of qualified officers who already served in MINUSTAH. For a more efficient process of the nominations, it is highly desirable that Member State submits the valid and completed Medical Forms (MS2), and passport copies of candidates along with the electronic application forms (EASP) or immediately after the clearance of the nominations for deployment.
4. Nominees must be cleared for mission service, either by passing the Selection Assistance and Assessment Team (SAAT) evaluations, or by having successfully finalized a UN mission service in the last 24 months before the new expected deployment. Nominations from Member States that do not host SAATs will undergo a telephone interview and, if cleared, will be assessed upon arrival in the mission area. Officers who fail in-mission mandatory qualification tests will be repatriated on the contributing country's expense.
5. Within the framework of the global efforts of the United Nations to increase participation of women in peacekeeping operations, the Police Division strongly encourages Police Contributing Countries to nominate female police officers. Given the added benefits female officers bring to the field mission, preference will be given to equally qualified female candidates during the selection process.

6. The Police Division wishes to remind that the Government has to ensure in writing that each candidate it nominates has not been convicted of, or is not currently under investigation or being prosecuted for, any criminal or disciplinary offence, or any violations of international human rights law or international humanitarian law. In the case of nominees who have been investigated for, charged with or prosecuted for any criminal offence, with the exception of minor traffic violations (driving while intoxicated or dangerous or careless driving are not considered minor traffic violations for this purpose), but were not convicted, the Government is requested to provide information regarding the investigation(s) or prosecutions concerned. The Government is also requested to certify that it is not aware of any allegations against its nominated candidates that they have committed or been involved, by act or omission, in the commission of any acts that may amount to violations of international human rights law or international humanitarian law. Nominations without the above mentioned certification will not be accepted.
7. In 2013, the Police Division introduced the new electronic application form (EASP) that has to be used further on by the candidates for deployment as UNPOL (non-contracted seconded) officers. The form must be duly filled out electronically, signed by the applicant and submitted to the Police Division. We attach the updated application procedures in this regard.
8. The Police Division offers these clarifications in a spirit of improving our service to the Member States, the candidates and the field missions. As always, your continued support to United Nations peace operations is greatly appreciated.
