	(iii) The selection procedure is stated as QCBS but the weightage that has been allotted to Technical score is only 25% and that to Financial score as 75%. Kind attention is invited to the Manual for Procurement of Consultancy and other Services 2022 released by DoE, M/o Finance, Government of India (page No. 41,42) wherein a higher percentages or technical score has been suggested to be followed under QCBS. The percentages suggested in RFP approximates to LCS method and not QCBS method considering that the quality and technical competence of the bidder is significantly important and fairly justifies the requirement of this ToR. Since, NPC is currently conducting 'Organisation Study' for Delhi Police entrusted by MHA and the study is at its fag end of report	Keeping in view the type of service, its complexity, quality requirement, the weightage given in the RFP, Para-16 of Part-II of Section-2 of RFP may be read as: “Quality and competence of the bidder in executing the assignment shall be considered as the paramount requirement. The selection of consultant will be done on QCBS method with 35% weightage to technical proposal and 65% weightage to financial proposal”. Further, these weightage ratio of technical and financial proposals
